Experts Approve Site Of New State Park On Kentucky Lake With $250,000 To Be Needed At Start

Frankfort, May 22 — Stamp of approval for a State park in the Gilbertsville Dam area, tentatively known as Kentucky Lake State Park, has been given by three of the Nation's outstanding park experts.

At the instance of Tom Wallace, editor of the Louisville Times, and H. A. Browning, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Conservation, Herbert Evison, of the National Park Service; William Hay, director of Tennessee State parks, and Charles A. DeTurk, director of the Indiana Division of State Parks have just completed an extensive survey of the potentialities of the site offered by the Tennessee Valley Authority to Kentucky for park purposes.

The proposed park is located in Calloway and Marshall counties, in the vicinity of Egner's Ferry Bridge and adjacent to waters impounded by the Gilbertsville Dam. It represents between 1,000 and 1,200 acres.

The three experts in their report label the site as "outstanding, since it embraces some of the best of Kentucky's natural landscape." They further point out that: "With a lack of fresh water lakes throughout that portion of Kentucky, Illinois, Missouri and Indiana the fact that the Kentucky Lake is available as a recreational center makes the proposed park area that much more important. From our inspection and discussions carried on at the park site, it seems evident to us that the location is well chosen by the Tennessee Valley Authority, that it will fulfill requirements of a State park, both from its scenic value and from its recreational value, and that it does serve one of the sections of Kentucky and surrounding states which do not have adequate recreational facilities."

Pertinent among the suggestions made by the visiting experts was that Kentucky adopt a definite and modern development plan for the park and that such plan be on a high and adequate plane. "The final success of the proposed park will certainly depend upon the quality of planning before construction starts," the report says.

It is expected a minimum State appropriation of $250,000 will be necessary to launch the Kentucky Lake Park. This amount, or any future sum appropriated, it is said, would be repaid many times by gasoline tax and usage fees of countless tourists and sportsmen who take advantage of the facility, the potentialities of which are not surpassed anywhere in the Nation.

Backers Move To Have Horse Show

Will Seek Permission Of School Board To Use Stadium

Enthusiasm for another horse show to be held here this summer was voiced at a meeting held in the courthouse last Friday night and those present voted to promote such an event, provided permission of the City Board of Education to use Butler Stadium can be obtained, an officer of the Horse Show Association said Tuesday.

Bedford McChesney, president of the association told those present a proposal of link the Princeton horse show with shows at Owensboro and Murray, with Princeton to have the middle date, had been received and pointed out advantages of such an arrangement. He said the plan assured more and better horses for the local show.

The association's board of directors was instructed to appear before the school board to petition for permission to use the high school stadium as soon as such a meeting could be arranged.

Railroads Told To Make Freight Rates Uniform

I.C.C. Edict Calls For End Of "Unreasonable" Discrimination Against South

A. P. Day, president of the Kentucky Whip and Collar Co., and Grayson Harralson, an officer of the Princeton Hosiery Mill, said this week they had not had time to study effect of the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission, equalizing freight rates throughout the Nation, will have on their manufacturing businesses but expressed the opinion the new edict will greatly benefit Kentucky and the South.

Ruling in the long-pending Southern freight rate case came last Saturday when the ICC, by a vote of 9 to 2, prescribed a uniform scale of class rates, for the entire country east of the Rocky Mountains.

Asserting the present railroad freight rate classifications are "unreasonable and unduly prejudicial," the commission gave the railroads 90 days in which to submit for its approval a method of reaching a uniform freight classification.

The South has long complained that the freight rate structure discriminated against it, as compared with rates applicable in other parts of the country and, led by Georgia's Governor Ellis Arnall, this section has instituted action in the United States Supreme Court to bring adjustments.

"Chambers of Commerce throughout the South have fought for this decision for the this part of the State has had last quarter century. Heretofore, to rely for its substance on agriculture and some few State institutions. Now they can expect to add more lucrative industry. This can eventually give Kentucky the same per capita wealth, Kentucky can buy better education for her children, better highways, better public facilities, have more for those in need, and generally gain," a local businessman said Monday.

"Kentucky should make a definite effort now to invite in more industries and get the full good that this allows."

Useful Men Of 30 To Be Deferred

Hershey Says New Policy Will Cut Draft Calls 25 Percent

Washington, May 22—Indefinite blanket deferment of men 30 and over who remain in "useful" jobs was ordered today by Selective Service.

This liberalized policy, effective at once, results from the narrowing of the war to one front, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey announced at a news conference.

He disclosed that the draft call will be cut about 25 percent to 90,000 men a month beginning in July.

But Hershey predicted at the same time that as a result of the new leniency for older men, it will be necessary to call an increasing number of occupationally deferred registrants 18 through 29.

Selective Service instructed local boards to review the cases of all registrants 30 through 37 who are in 1-A and to defer any who may qualify under the new more liberal policy.

Local boards also were instructed to handle with "sympathetic consideration" the cases of all fathers 30 and over, and to resolve in their favor any decision where doubt is involved. The draft director ordered local boards to review immediately the cases of all 4-F and limited service registrants 18 through 29.

Half Of E-Bond Quota Subscribed Here, Banks Report

Women Workers Sell $6,000 Worth At Homes And In Downtown Booths

Princeton's two banks reported $57,800 in E-Bonds purchased here for the 7th War Loan Wednesday morning and women canvassers had disposed of another $6,000 worth of this important type of security, for a total of $63,800, against the county's E-Bond quota of $125,000.

Purchase of other types of War Bonds indicated the county's total quota of $325,000 would be reached before the deadline, June 30, but almost half of the quota of E-Bonds still remains to be sold. Deadline on E. F. and G. Bonds is July 7.

From Frankfort this week came a letter to The Leader editor from State Treasurer Tom W. Vinson, advising that his office was crediting $200,000 worth of War Bonds it will purchase to Caldwell county, which virtually assures this community of oversubscribing its total quota, as has happened in every campaign to date.

The banks reported a total of $28,000 in War Bonds other than E-Bonds, sold to date in this campaign.

Women Canvassers Sell $6,000 Worth Of E-Bonds

Women bond sellers, in house-to-house visits and operating booths in both banks here Saturday and Monday, last, have reported $6,000 worth of E-Bonds purchased through them up to Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Frank G. Wood, women's chairman, said.

Included in the list of women War Loan workers are: Mesdames Allan Hubbard, Earl Adams, Chas. Curry, Emma Morse, Thomas McConnell, C. H. Jagers, Robert Putman, George Pettit, Duke Pettit, M. Pool, C. ## Public Asked To Buy 2,000 Poppies

Auxiliary And Girl Scouts To Sell For Veterans Saturday

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Girl Scouts will sell poppies on the downtown streets here Saturday, May 26, in the annual "Poppy Day" observance, the money to help provide for disabled veterans of World Wars I and II, and their families, Mrs. Willie Larkins, chairman, said this week. The Legion Auxiliary is the sponsoring organization, as heretofore, but all funds will go to the veterans, Mrs. Larkins said.

Buying a poppy is a way of paying tribute to the all our countrymen who have died in the two great wars, the Auxiliary member said, and 2,000 of the bright, red poppies will be sent here for sale. Disabled veterans, young men from this war and older men from World War I at Outwood Hospital made the poppies.

Last year's Poppy Day here produced a total of $200, Mrs. Larkins said, and it is hoped this year's buying will be even more generous, as so many more men need the aid which will be provided by this means.

More Patriotism Needed

It is beginning to dawn upon most of the Princeton women who have been doing house-to-house visiting in the 7th War Loan campaign here that selling the $125,000 county quota of E-Bonds is going to be a huge task.

Perhaps we are not celebrating our victory in Europe properly. Certainly there seems to be a let-down on the home front which, if not checked, threatens to bring the first blot upon this community's record in buying more than its full quota of War Bonds in every campaign up to now.

No community could have had a more fitting V-E Day observance than Princeton. The President's request for prayerful thanksgiving and business as usual was met by our people with wholehearted compliance. There has been much satisfaction here in contemplation of complete victory over Japan, perhaps within a year and, it is just possible, too large a complacency.

The proper way to celebrate the triumph of our arms in the war against Nazi tyranny and oppression is to lend our money to Uncle Sam for a full and abundantly implemented effort against our remaining enemy, the dirty and treacherous Jap.

We suffer no hardship by purchasing War Bonds. By not buying as generously as we can, we are guilty, at a crucial time, of contributing to the prolongation of the worst part of the conflict.

Let us realize that if we are to do our part in this current War Loan, much greater evidence of patriotism than is being manifested here now is necessary.

"While Fame Her Vigil Keeps"

In remembrance of the Nation's heroic dead of World Wars I and II and to help alleviate the aftermath of war for thousands of men who are in hospitals because of their sacrifice while wearing the uniform, citizens of Princeton and the rest of the country will buy and wear poppies Saturday, May 26.

This annual Poppy Day should have more significance for more persons than any of its predecessors; for there are more gold stars in the window of homes and more silently suffering men in institutions still paying war's toll in physical and mental suffering.

And so, the little red flowers, made by the fingers of men who never again will walk in the normal way of life because they did their high duty as fighters for freedom, will be offered here on the streets by Girl Scouts and members of the American Legion Auxiliary, with all proceeds of their sale going to veterans and their families in need.

It does not matter that Poppy Day comes during the great 7th War Loan campaign, for these who served so well and paid so high a price do not expect large gifts of money.

Yet, it is an opportunity for each of us to contribute a little of our larger share of the good things of life, especially whole bodies and less bruised minds, as fitting tribute to the heroes whose "silent tents are spread on Fame's eternal camping ground" . . . and to keep the poet's pledge: "nor shall their glory be forgot while Fame her vigil keeps and Glory guards the hallowed spot where Valor proudly sleeps."

What It Means

Whether To Sell Your Car

By David J. Wilkie

Detroit—If your present automobile is in good condition and you expect to need a car for the next three years you will not go far wrong in keeping it—and keeping it in good condition.

That's the answer to Automotive Editor is making to inquiries concerning the advisability of selling now or waiting until the end of the war removes all controls on production and prices.

The inquiries invariably raise the question, "Will used car prices go down sharply when the new cars start coming out?"

I do not profess to know whether used car prices, now under a strict OPA ceiling, will go up or down when the controls are removed. I do know, however, that it will be two and a half to three years after production is resumed before the average individual without some priority will be able to get prompt delivery on a new car.

It is also true that to re-establish the used car market after the war hundreds of thousands of automobiles in good condition will be required. Thus the motorist with a good car to trade in might find it easier to obtain early delivery on a new one.

One of the latest inquiries came from an Air Services office at a southern base, about to be sent overseas. He wrote:

"I have a 1941 convertible coupe, in good condition, purchased about three months ago. I am undecided whether to sell the car before going overseas, or to keep it. My wife could drive the car enough that it would not deteriorate, but our main question is: How much would it depreciate during the next year or two?"

War Bonds For Postwar Security

By M. F. Miller, Dean and Director, College of Agriculture University of Missouri

The farmers of the country are among our most patriotic citizens. They can be depended upon to meet their obligations, insofar as possible, in contributing to the war emergency.

Farmers have been cutting down their indebtedness appreciably during the period of high prices which has accompanied the war, and this is as it should be. However, these same individuals have found it possible to buy War Bonds in very material quantities.

In addition to the patriotic urge which farmers have for investing in War Bonds, it is highly essential to their future welfare that they provide reserve funds for later years. They will need reserves for all types of farm improvements which have been greatly neglected during the war. They will need funds for soil improvement. They will need funds for insuring protection against low prices of farm products during the postwar period.

It is also highly important that farmers avoid speculation in the purchase of land. This is essential not only from the standpoint of controlling land prices but for the future security of the farmers themselves. The farmer who is able to place the bulk of his savings in War Bonds is providing such security for the postwar period.

Windsor Castle in London has been a fortified spot since the early 11th century and a royal residence since the time of William the Conqueror.

WHEN THE HONEYMOON IS OVER

Pennyrite Postscripts By G. M. P.

If Betsy Mays and her son where they stopped thanking Bill didn't lose too many golf balls they had a profitable day Sunday . . . because Henry Severson called 'em over the fence to his place and let 'em pick two boxes of fine, ripe strawberries.

Dr. F. P. Thomas, Hopkinsville, always a source of good stories, told me one Sunday about a lady neighbor who, crossing the street to chat with him and Mrs. T. one rainy day, discovered she had on only one overshoe . . . Whereupon the lady went back home, donned the other foot protector and returned, rain falling steadily the while.

Those golf lessons we paid for on our better half's behalf some years ago still have not paid any dividends. First she burned a hand, then she broke a finger, spanking our youngest and now she has a busted foot from stepping out of a taxi into a hole in the pavement at Louisville last weekend.

I am all for those plans of the Country Club's board of directors to enhance the attractions of the place for the women folk. Golf widows are notorious for looking with a jaundiced eye upon the rolling greensward which keeps their men folk from the festive board at eventide. So, the more the directors do to make the ladies like the club, the better for mere male members.

America In Wartime

On Making The Jobs Work

By Beryl Shoenfield (Associated Press Features)

Washington—K. Vernon Banta's motto is: "Don't confuse disability with inability."

Banta has just celebrated his 25th anniversary with the United States Employment Service and is chief of the government's disabled veterans employment program. He describes his system of selective placement of the handicapped as "revolutionary, yet sound, practical business sense."

He contends that "Every single job is a job for a disabled person. No job requires every capacity of the normal person."

Banta, gray-haired and 45, is proof of his own argument. He lost his left arm 28 years ago in a dredging accident in Wyoming, Minn. Three years later, at 20, he entered the USES as a clerk.

"In those days there was no scientific technique," he says. "It was all by rule of thumb. Frankly, they didn't think I could do the work!"

In 1921, at the peak of the disabled veterans problem, he began to do placement work. "There was no technique for placing handicapped persons until 1936," Banta recalls. "My old boss used to say, 'Always use job analysis in this work.'"

"But he never explained what he meant by 'job analysis.' I had to work it out by myself."

Today the Banta technique is used in finding jobs for some 13,000 handicapped persons every month.

The system consists of analyzing each job for working conditions (damps, dust, hours, etc.) and the physical activities required to perform it (walking, standing, lifting, etc.). There are 54 conditions in all.

Similarly, the capacity of the handicapped applicant is analyzed. Then the suitable job is picked for him.

"If we can get this scientific placement technique ingrained in employers, they'll pick a man for his ability, for his employment record," Banta says.

"The trend will be away from discriminating on a basis of handicap," Banta says. USES is instructing plant managers on setting up selective placement programs within the plant to reach the man who never gets to USES.

The agency is also cooperating with Bulova Watch, Sperry Gyroscope, Kaiser Shipyards and other industries training disabled veterans for employment.

"The vast majority of disabled veterans will adjust themselves with little difficulty," Banta concludes.

HE PICKS THE TUNE YOU LIKE TO HEAR

RAY SHANNON—genial Program Co-ordinator—chooses and arranges the music that goes on the air for radio station WHAS.

Ray was born in West Virginia, our neighbor state. He is well known in the Blue Grass Section of Kentucky, because a few years back he forsook radio for a short time to pursue his hobby—photography—professionally. And most of his assignments brought him to Kentucky photographing thoroughbreds.

But he soon returned to radio, his first love. And now you find him every day at WHAS at his desk writing theme songs, arranging a new tune, or picking out a familiar piece you would love to hear. When he isn't doing that he probably is in the control room listening, timing, watching for the tiniest flaw in a musical performance, correcting and perfecting it. Sometimes he goes right into the studio to adjust the position of the piano, put up a sound screen, or move the microphone perhaps only a thousandth of an inch, or help a vocalist get just the proper tone . . . to get the best possible effect. So Ray spends his time making your WHAS-listening-time more enjoyable.

Ray's radio career started at the very beginning of broadcasting almost a quarter-century ago, when he got his first job with radio station WTAM, in Cleveland, producing and directing the station's music. For more than seven years he arranged all the special music for the WTAM Staff Orchestra and vocalists. He was Program Director at KMBC in Kansas City when WHAS persuaded him to come here more than a year ago to become Program Co-ordinator. He has just come back from Washington where he met with other members of the Program Directors Executive Committee. This is the second year Ray has been asked by the National Association of Broadcasters to serve on this committee.

Mineral elements are found in rather large amounts in farm animals, including dairy. These are sodium, calcium, and phosphorus. The sodium and chloride supplied by common salt, and phosphorus may be supplied by ground limestone steamed bone meal if more needed than that contained in the grains.

It should be kept before farmers at all times. Most farmers recognize this need but it is neglected.

Dairy Payments Revised

The Kentucky dairy production payments for May and June are announced as 25 cents a hundred for whole milk and 10 cents a pound for butterfat. For the July-September quarter the payments will be 45 and 13 cents, and for the six months of October through March the payment will be 60 and 17 cents.

Material of the bones and teeth of domestic livestock consists of calcium and phosphorus. Deficiency of calcium results in weakening the bones, lameness, or even fractures of the bone, while phosphorus deficiency causes stiffness and soreness of the joints, listlessness and lack of appetite.

All kinds of feeds contain calcium and phosphorus. The amount varies in kinds of feed and on the supply of phosphorus and calcium in the soil on which the feed is grown.

Where an abundance of pasture or legume hay is provided, grown on soil that is high in lime and phosphorus, most of the grazing type of livestock get a sufficient amount of phosphorus and calcium to meet their needs. High producing dairy cows usually need a supplemental of these minerals.

Hogs and chickens which are not fed milk, meat scraps, tankage or fish meal, need to be provided a source of mineral in addition to salt.

The best method of feeding mineral supplements is "free choice." Keep each mineral (salt, steambone meal, ground limestone) in a self feeder in separate compartments. This method allows the animals to satisfy their needs without forcing them to eat too much of one in order to get the require-

Spirit of Enterprise

Enterprise has had a rather tough time of late and little opportunity has existed in recent years to demonstrate what it is or what it can do. Now the air is full of talk about the enterprise system in the postwar period.

All that is needed to restore the spirit of enterprise and to make the system work is the right to make a dollar by any honest means, and to be free to keep it. This formula involves minimizing or removing governmental restrictions and regulations with the exception of those necessary to assure that honest means are used.

The enterprise system includes all kinds of firms, ranging in size from giant corporations to one-man stores, garages, etc. A forest which is all mature trees with no saplings will not be a forest for long. A thicket which is all saplings is not a forest at all. The wise forester is interested in both the trees and the saplings.

The relative importance of the small firm in the nation's economy may be illustrated by the following chart:

Employing Organizations and Numbers of Workers in Last Pay Period in September, 1940*
Number of Workers in Employing Organizations*	Employing Organizations	Workers in Last Pay Period of September	Employing Organizations	Workers in Last Pay Period of September

† As determined by the number of workers reported in last pay period of September.

‡ The tabulation from which this table was compiled includes 88.8 per cent of the estimated number of total employing organizations and 98.4 per cent of the estimated total number of employees.

This compilation is not complete for it includes only those firms having some employees covered for old-age and survivors insurance at some time during the period July-September 1940. It is adequate, however, to demonstrate the importance of the small concern as a source of jobs for workers. As of September 1940, the little outfits, employing from one to nine persons, were employing nearly a million more workers, in the aggregate, than the big outfits which had 10,000 or more persons on their several pay rolls.

THE GARDEN

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky
College of Agriculture and Home Economics

The same cool weather that has been holding back the beans has served also to delay the coming of the pests that afflict beans. However, here and there have been noted the roundish holes that the spotted cucumber beetle and the southern bean beetle make in bean leaves. And, when warm weather has come to stay the Mexican beetle will come, too, last winter's severe cold to the contrary.

The first two are merely transients, wintered-over adults contenting themselves on garden beans until their favorite weeds get ready. Usually there are not enough to become dangerous, but anyhow they can be stopped easily, with magnesium arsenate and lime, 1 to 6, or with spray made of magnesium arsenate, 2 tablespoons in the gallon of water. Dust or spray placement is not critical as these insects feed on the top surface of the leaves.

The Mexican beetle is not so simple to control. It breeds on beans, and the onslaught of its numerous offspring can be described only as "blitz." It feeds only on the leaves' undersides, making necessary the use of upturned nozzles on sprayers. There may be as many as three generations a year, 30 to 40 days apart. From these and other facts discovered by entomologists who have made close study of this insect, a rule-of-thumb has been developed, as follows:

On the first planting, when any adults are seen, immediately spray or dust with the materials described a few lines ago, and 10 days after (to the day) repeat. Two applications, thorough and complete and on this schedule, should suffice for that generation, but sometimes a third should be made. Thirty days later, lookout should be kept for the new generation, to be handled like the first, and so on, throughout the summer.

Magnesium arsenate is a poison, and should not be used after bean pods have started setting. Then, only rotenone should be the spray. However, because of rotenone's expense and scarcity, it should be saved until only it is safe to use.

That one acre of balbo rye will produce as much as or more winter pasture than three acres of small grain, was stated by Oscar Shields of Bath county. Reporting to Farm Agent Joe R. ## Plain Diet Is Faced By Nation

U.S. Must Eat Simply To Save Thousands From Starvation

(By Associated Press)

Washington, — The war finally drove home to Americans this week that they are no longer the world's best eaters and to save others from starving they must go on a simple diet.

Meat stores all over the Nation are empty. The steak-lover is eating fish. Where butter is available the housewife can't afford the ration points.

It isn't going to get any better for many months. There'll be enough to eat but the diet will be simple and unsavory.

That is the unvarnished picture for 1945, at least while this nation and its Allies are still fighting Japan and helping to avert starvation in war-ravaged Europe.

Some other countries in fact, will eat better than America, a new and paradoxical situation.

The Associated Press surveyed the situation through local officials in this country, the federal agriculture department and sources abroad, and found:

Only a few sections—in the far west—have anything like normal meat supplies. Poultry is disappearing. The strain on the egg supply is being felt. Many places don't even have bologna or lunch meats. Stores are closing.

Germany faces possible famine next winter; the French and Belgians are solving their problems pretty well; the Balkans are in dire straits; Holland, Norway, Finland and Italy must have help if they are to eat; Spain, Egypt, Denmark, Sweden and Canada are eating well and in many commodities don't even have to ration.

In Bell county, 996 boys and girls are enrolled in 4-H clubs, taking clothing, canning, room improvement, poultry, corn, garden and swine projects.

Approximately 5,000 bushels of corn on the low lands of Ohio river in Greenup county were carried away by the Ohio river. Balbo rye has eased the situation in Bath county, farmers reporting they are able to keep it grazed down.

ANOTHER CHORE FOR MILLIONS OF FARM BOYS

This official U. S. Navy photograph of American boys landing under enemy fire on a Pacific island is typical of the hard, bloody jobs our troops are doing—and will have to continue to do for many weary months to come—for you and for all Americans.

Give them a hand—

BUY TWICE AS MANY BONDS IN THE MIGHTY 7th WAR LOAN!

The time is ripe.

It's now—now when America can't afford to falter... NOW is the time for you to back up our fighting men by buying twice as many War Bonds in this mighty 7th War Loan as you ever did before!

Does that seem like too much of a chore? Would you rather wait until crops are in and you have more cash?

You wouldn't, if you could see how urgent it is to act now. Up to this time last year there had been two war loans. This year, the 7th War Loan must raise almost as much as two loans last year. That's why you are asked: Buy twice as many Bonds in this mighty 7th War Loan!

Regardless of what has happened in Germany, we must still send our millions of men in Europe tons and more tons of supplies daily.

In the Pacific we still haven't gone all-out against Japan. We must build new, deadlier, more costly planes... harder-hitting tanks... new warships... and more of everything than ever before, if we are not to let our boys down just when they need our help the most.

And we, all of us, have a new responsibility... to the thousands of our wounded. We must see to it that they get the best of care, the best of medicines, the best of everything through the long, pain-filled months of their recovery.

All this takes money. That is why your country is again asking you to lend your dollars by buying twice as many Bonds as you ever did before!

War Bonds pay off in these 7 ways...

- 1 The same Government security backs your War Bonds as backs the actual dollars you put into them.
- 2 You get $100 at maturity for every $75 loaned now.
- 3 You can get your money back 60 days after issue date, any time you need it... in the meantime you get safety and steady growth.
- 4 You have a backlog to renew farm buildings and equipment after the war.
- 5 Bonds will insure your children's schooling, or provide for your own security, travel, retirement.
- 6 Bonds go into a national nest egg that will help to assure post-war prosperity.
- 7 Bonds transform your love of home and country into action... you join personally in the big war, most urgent War Loan of all—the Seventh!

THE 7TH WAR LOAN IS ON!

Yes, the Seventh War Loan is on right now! There are new planes to be built... new tanks... new ships. All to bring the war to an earlier close. Our fighting men will do their job. But we must do ours! And right now, the most important job we have is to meet our personal quotas in the Seventh War Loan drive!

Those quotas are big. Uncle Sam needs $7,000,000,000 from individuals. For this loan is really 2 in 1—there had been 2 drives in 1944, by this time. So now—we've got to do a two-loan job in one. But Americans have never failed to meet a War Bond quota yet—and we won't fail now! So find out what your quota is—and meet it!

Suggests Remedies For Soil Depletion

Excessive cropping and close grazing continue to leave their marks on Robertson county farms, says County Agent A. A. Williams. Deficient nitrogen and humus in the soils are more evident every spring in the pale-green color of crops.

Agent Williams suggests these remedies:

Grow more legumes in pasture mixtures. Conserve manure and spread it on the land. Make better use of tobacco stalks and straw. Apply limestone and phosphate to improve pastures. Grow more vetch and other soil-improving crops. Continue heavy use of commercial fertilizers.

Blue Mold Hits Tobacco Plants

W. D. Valleau

Reports received at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station indicate that blue mold has appeared in at least 13 counties in Kentucky the last 10 days. The first report was from Wayne county, April 28. This was 16 days earlier than the earliest report in 1937 when the disease became general in plant beds over the State and caused considerable injury. Because of the earliness of the outbreak this year it is possible the disease may develop to serious proportions before the crop is set.

Because of the fact that Kentucky has had only one serious outbreak of blue mold in the 14 years the disease has been present in eastern United States, growers are not prepared to combat the disease. There are two satisfactory ways of preventing injury for those who are prepared. One is the gas treatment with P.D.B. and the other is the spray known as Fermate. Neither of these materials will be available in the state this spring and few growers have the equipment to use them.

Low night temperatures (below 50 degrees F.) greatly retard the spread of the mold, and night temperatures above 68 degrees also retard it. Plants which are hardened off by removing the cotton early in the morning are less likely to be killed than very tender plants kept covered. Plants which are ready to set should be put in the field as soon as possible, even though mildly affected by blue mold; but if the disease is severe, the leaves killed, and the base of the stem darkened, the plants should not be transplanted until they begin to recover. Recovery of badly diseased plants is aided by an application of nitrate of soda at the rate of 1 pound to 5 gallons of water sprinkled on 17 feet of bed 12 feet wide or 22 feet of bed 9 feet wide; washed off with an equal amount of water. Plants which have been affected and recover are usually not subject to a second attack. Beds with morning shade are usually affected earlier and more severely than beds in the open; therefore it may be an advantage to remove trees or branches which shade the beds in the morning. The majority of plants in an affected bed usually recover unless the plants are small or are in a shaded place.

Bluestone-lime is not a preventive of blue mold but is recommended for prevention of wildfire and rust.

ONLY WILL POWER KEPT HIM GOING SAYS ALLEN

Retonga Brought More Relief Than Everything Else Put Together, Says World War I Veteran. Gains Weight, Eats And Sleeps Fine.

"Retonga brought me more real relief than all the other medicines and treatments I took put together," gratefully declares Mr. L. L. Allen, well known farmer of Route 1, Ooltewah, Tenn., and veteran of overseas service in World War I.

"Ever since I returned from overseas service, I suffered more or less distress from gas pains and indigestion, continued Mr. Allen. "I tried dieting and various medicines but nothing I did seemed to help. My appetite became very poor and my weight went down. I became too nervous to sleep much and I would wake up every morning feeling so tired out that I dreaded the day ahead. I was almost a slave to laxatives and I felt full of toxic poisons. For the last few years I felt so let-down that only will power kept me on the go.

"Retonga lost no time in bringing me relief. I have regained several pounds and all that distress from indigestion, nervousness and sluggish elimination has been relieved. I feel so much stronger that I can never give enough praise to Retonga."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to Vitamin B-1 deficiency, constipation, insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, and loss of appetite. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Dawson's Drug Store. —(adv.)

Frobisher Bay, Baffin Island, Canada—Every Sunday a small group of parka-covered Eskimos travel ten miles to hear a sermon read by an officer of the AAF Air Transport Command here.

There is no chaplain permanently quartered at this isolated base off the far northeast coast of Canada. To keep Sunday holy and aid morale of the men stationed here, officers read a weekly sermon written and forwarded by Chaplain (Maj.) William V. Morgan, stationed at Manchester, N. H.

Eskimos rarely miss these Sunday services. Most of them don't understand a word but have learned the Lord's Prayer and fundamental religion from missionaries.

Older Men Are Working On Farms

With their sons gone to war or to war industries, fewer aged farmers are retiring in Kentucky, and many of them are working longer hours and harder to keep the farms producing, says a statement of the Agriculture Experiment Station at Lexington.

For every 100 farmers between 25 and 70 years old who retired or died, with conditions as they were in 1940, there were 190 young farmers reaching the age of 25. This means that only a few more than half of the maturing young men were ordinarily needed as replacement in the ranks of farmers.

However, with thousands gone to war and war plants, there is a shortage of young men on the farms to take the place of older men who would retire. As a result, large numbers of old men are staying on the farm and postponing the time of their retirement. In many instances they are working long hours and doing hard labor that food production

Experiment Station.
It is pointed out that the close of the war an unusually large number of farms will be ready for young men released from the armed forces or no longer needed in industry.

There is a wide variation within Kentucky in the number of young men needed to replace farmers who retire, die or for some other reason leave the land. In Bourbon county, for example, about two out of three men reaching the age of 25 could enter farming, replacing men who die or retire. In Floyd, Pike, Martin, Knott and other eastern counties not more than a third of the men reaching the age of 25 are needed as replacements in agriculture.

Properly Installed Lightning Rods O. K.

Farm engineers at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics believe properly installed lightning rods protect buildings. Ground connections must be good, they warn. Lightning tends to strike high points, it is noted. This may mean a building, a tree or a man working in the field. So it well to avoid these during a thunderstorm. Getting under a field is considered especially dangerous. Fences, machinery and other metal objects also should be avoided.

Time Out for War on Farm Telephone expansion

The number of Southern Bell-operated farm telephones in Dixie was increased by more than four times from 1935 to 1942 when war interrupted our rural telephone expansion program.

Since 1942, vast amounts of communication equipment have been and are still being manufactured for shipment to our fighting men, and we cannot resume our farm telephone expansion until after manpower and material again become available.

In the meantime, we are furthering our efforts to provide increased and improved post-war farm telephone service through our research work and experience gained in new methods of construction, transmission and new developments in the art of communication.

Southern Bell's post-war rural development program is part of the Bell System's one hundred million dollar program to extend and improve farm telephone service of the future. And every reasonable and practicable step is being taken to advance this program as rapidly as possible.

Leon Pigg of Whitehall, Madison county, has 43 grade western ewes which dropped 81 lambs this spring, only two being lost. One ewe had quadruplets which she is raising. Farm Agent J. L. ## Cites Danger In High Priced Farm Lexington—The danger to be avoided in buying a farm is paying a larger amount than long-term farm prices or farm income will support, L. J. Hoing, chief appraiser for the Federal Land Bank of Louisville, warns.

He spoke at a farm appraisal demonstration and clinic conducted under auspices of the department of farm economics at the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture and Home Economics to acquaint farm families and others with the fundamentals of farm land valuation.

The value of the farm is limited by its present and future income and therefore in buying a farm or extending credit it is essential to keep the amount of the purchase price or the loan within the amount of the long-time value of the property, Hoing warned.

Experience over the last century or more offers convincing evidence that variations in farm yields and income returns available to the farmer cannot be eliminated and that it is necessary to recognize these fluctuations, he said.

"We must recognize that there will be periods of low prices as well as periods of high prices, but that neither will prevail indefinitely and that somewhere in between these two extremes is about what may be expected over a period of years."

"Prices in most areas are 60 per cent higher than in 1939 and in many places they are above the long-time earning value of the farm. Rising and falling land prices have been one of the main factors contributing to the instability of the farmers' economic position. Land prices in this war are following the same trend as in World War I. Then wholesale foreclosure resulted.

"If we are to prevent a recurrence of the financial distress which followed World War I, every effort must be made to prevent excessive farm mortgage indebtedness."

Vinson's Office Making Plans For Early V-J Day

Surrender Soon Not Expected But Possibility Brings Big Economic Problems

Washington — The nation's economic high command—the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion—is endeavoring to lay out basic policies for V-J Day. It wants to be ready in the event Japan surrenders quickly.

Discussing of these economic plans, which are now going on in the quarters of Mobilizer Fred Vinson, resemble a debate on how to fall off a stepladder. The thing can't be done gracefully. Judge Vinson's experts calculate that if the Asiatic war ends within a few months of the European fighting, before big auto factories and others can be reconverted, unemployment in America will reach 10 million or 12 million, about as high a figure as in 1932, worst depression year.

Relief measures would then be thrown in. The Vinson office believes an "immediate" necessity would be to boost the rates of unemployment benefits. Quick public works projects—the road mending sort—would be utilized. The Government's motive, above prevention of hunger, would be to buy mass purchasing power until restored civilian production could take up the burden of employment. The policy would require heavy Government spending, "but not as much as continued shooting at the Japs."

This serious talk of an early end to all fighting is rather startling, for the generals and admirals have just spent a long winter nursing the contention that it will take two years or so to clean out the Far East. They of course, must prepare for the worst of all military possibilities.

Society Honors Two For 50 Years' Service

Drs. W. C. Haydon, W. L. Cash, B. L. Keeney and Power Wolfe attended a meeting of the Four County Medico-Dental Society at Marion, Tuesday night. The meeting had been planned in honor of Dr. T. A. Frazer, Marion, and the late Dr. J. G. White, Cerulean, both having completed 50 years of service as general practitioners of medicine.

For variety, add a dash of curry powder to French dressing.

The economic high command must plan for the worst, too, and for them—although they'll welcome an end to bloodshed—the economic worst would be a nearly simultaneous termination of both halves of a global war. (Wall Street Journal)
